JOSH HARRIS

Managing Partner

Josh Harris is the Managing Partner of the Philadelphia 76ers. Josh's family history in Philadelphia is deeply rooted—all four of his great-grandparents settled there, each of his four grandparents lived in the city and his parents met there. Following in his father's footsteps, Josh attended the University of Pennsylvania, witnessing the iconic 76ers championship in 1983 during his time there.

Under the leadership of Josh Harris and David Blitzer, the 76ers have grown to be one of the NBA's 10 most valuable franchises (Forbes) and have quickly emerged as one of the fastest-growing global sports brands. The team has widened its portfolio through a variety of organizations and initiatives, including its NBA 2K League Team, 76ers Gaming Club.

Josh and the 76ers are active in the Philadelphia and South Jersey communities through charitable giving and partnerships with hospitals, youth centers, schools and food distribution centers. In 2015, the Sixers Youth Foundation was established to focus on youth development across the Delaware Valley and in 2016 the team unveiled a new $86 million training complex in Camden, New Jersey. The project not only created a new world-class and innovative practice facility for the team but demonstrates the team's commitment to the area and its revitalization along the waterfront.

The Philadelphia 76ers are a part of Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment (HBSE), which includes a diverse portfolio of sports and entertainment franchises, of which Josh is the Founder. Josh is also Managing Partner of the NHL's New Jersey Devils and the NFL's Washington Commanders.

In 2022, Josh founded 26North, a next-generation alternatives platform that invests across a variety of strategies, including Private Equity, Direct Lending and Insurance solutions.

Prior to 26North, he co-founded Apollo Global Management, and spent over 30 years building the firm into a leading global alternative investment manager and one of the largest alternative credit managers.

Across his platform – including through his foundation, Harris Philanthropies – Josh is committed to using a blend of philanthropic giving and impact investment to improve outcomes for underserved groups in communities where he has a deep connection. Specifically, Josh is focused on supporting vulnerable youth through sports and educational programming, championing equity and sustainable wealth creation in diverse communities and enhancing health, wellness and educational outcomes.

FRONT OFFICE

DARYL MOREY

President of Basketball Operations

Daryl Morey enters his fourth season as President of Basketball Operations for the Philadelphia 76ers, having compiled a franchise-best .653 winning percentage through his first three years at the helm. Morey oversees all areas of the 76ers basketball operations department, including the hiring of Nick Nurse as the franchise's 26th head coach this past offseason.

In 2022-23, the 76ers completed a 54-28 regular-season, the team's best since 2000-01 and the NBA's third-best record of the campaign. Joel Embiid was voted the NBA's Most Valuable Player, becoming the first 76ers player since Allen Iverson (2000-01) to capture the award. He also recorded his second consecutive scoring crown (33.1 points/game), as he and James Harden (10.7 assists/game) became the first pair of teammates to earn the scoring and assist titles in the same season since 1981-82.

The 76ers claimed the third seed in the Eastern Conference and defeated the Brooklyn Nets in the First Round of the 2023 NBA Playoffs, becoming one of two teams to advance to the second round in each of the past three seasons since Morey's arrival. On the year, Morey's 76ers led the NBA in three-point percentage (.387) and free-throw percentage (.835), becoming the ninth team ever to do so.

At the NBA trade deadline in Feb. 2022, Morey orchestrated the 76ers' acquisition of 10-time All Star and seven-time All-NBA selection James Harden in a deal with the Brooklyn Nets. Harden joined a starting five anchored by All-Star Joel Embiid, creating a unit that led the league with a 20.2 net rating over 20 games together.

In his first season, Philadelphia completed a 49-23 regular season, including a 29-7 mark at home, securing the No. 1 seed in the 2021 NBA Playoffs.

Prior to the 2020-21 season, Morey retooled the 76ers roster, acquiring Seth Curry and Danny Green in trades and drafting Tyrese Maxey, and Paul Reed. Curry and Green joined Joel Embiid, Tobias Harris and Ben Simmons to round out a starting five that would post a 27-5 record over the course of the season.

Morey joined the organization after 14 seasons with the Houston Rockets, 13 of which were spent as general manager. With Morey as general manager, Houston compiled a 640-400 (.615) record, the second-best of any NBA team during that span. Among executives with at least 1,000 games of experience, Morey's record stands as the fourth-best in league history; a top-five that also includes the likes of R.C. Buford and Jerry West. Between 2007-23, Morey's teams have never had a losing season, winning 50-plus games nine times and qualifying for the postseason on 12 occasions. The Rockets' eight straight playoff appearances (2013-2020), including multiple trips to the Western Conference Finals, represented the longest streak in the NBA over that span.

Over the years, Morey played a part in bringing several All-Star-caliber players to Houston through trades and free agency, including James Harden, Kyle Lowry, Dwight Howard, and Chris Paul. In 2017-18, Morey earned Executive of the Year honors, while Harden was named MVP, following a franchise best 65-17 regular season.

Prior to joining the Rockets as assistant general manager in 2006, Morey served three years as Sr. Vice President of Operations for the Boston Celtics. Originally from Ohio, Morey is a graduate of Northwestern University and also holds an MBA from MIT where he serves as the co-chair of the school's annual Sports Analytics Conference.

ELTON BRAND

General Manager

Elton Brand enters his sixth season as General Manager of the Philadelphia 76ers. During Brand's tenure as general manager, the 76ers have qualified for the postseason each year, while compiling a 248-143 (.634) regular-season record, the second-highest winning percentage in the league. Philadelphia is 144-50 (.742) at home over Brand's five seasons as general manager, including a league-best 29-2 (.935) mark at The Center in 2019-20 and an Eastern Conference-leading 29-7 (.806) record in 2020-21.

In 2022-23, the 76ers compiled a 54-28 record (.659), the team's best under Brand, and its best since the 2000-01 season. It also marked the third time in Brand's five seasons as general manager that the team reached the 50-win mark, the second-most in the NBA during that stretch. Six-time All-Star Joel Embiid earned his second consecutive scoring title (33.1) en route to winning the NBA's Most Valuable Player Award, while James Harden, acquired during the 2021-22 season, became the first 76er ever to win the league's assist title (10.7).

Under Brand's guidance, the 2021-22 76ers finished the regular season 51-31, in fourth place in the Eastern Conference. In 2020-21, Brand played a key role in constructing a roster that posted the 76ers' best record in 20 seasons, earning the No. 1 seed in the Eastern Conference playoffs.

Over his tenure, Brand has reshaped the 76ers roster, surrounding Embiid, Harden, and Maxey with a collection of roster depth. In 2019, he orchestrated the arrival of Tobias Harris to Philadelphia as part of a six-player trade with the Clippers. Brand made several transactions in 2018-19 – his first as general manager with the franchise – bolstering the foundation of a team that eventually won 51 games. Philadelphia went 31-10 at The Center that season, the most such home wins by the team since 1989-90.

Brand's success as general manager comes following a 17-year playing career, during which he spent parts of five seasons playing for the 76ers. Prior to assuming the GM role with the 76ers, Brand spent the 2017-18 season in the same capacity with the Delaware Blue Coats, a role in which he oversaw all personnel moves related to the 76ers G League franchise. Following his retirement from the NBA, Brand spent the 2016-17 season with the 76ers as a player development consultant. Overall, Brand played in 1,058 NBA contests (868 starts) over 17 seasons with Chicago, the Clippers, Philadelphia, Dallas and Atlanta, making two All-Star appearances (2002 and 2006). He posted averages of 15.9 points, 8.5 rebounds, 2.1 assists and 1.7 blocks per game, while shooting .500 percent from the field and .736 percent from the free-throw line in 33.0 minutes per game. His 1,828 blocks place him 22nd all-time in NBA history.

In addition to his role within 76ers basketball operations, Brand is an active community ambassador, serving on the boards of both the Sixers Youth Foundation and Philadelphia Film Society. He sponsors young people through the Urban Affairs Coalition's Summer Youth Employment Program, which provides paid summer job opportunities and support to youth ages 14-18. The six-week program includes career exposure, on-the-job mentoring and professional development. Brand recently completed the High-Potential Leaders program at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania, where he worked closely with Wharton's leadership experts and other high potentials from around the world in a dynamic, interactive environment. In addition to his studies at Duke and UPenn, Brand also studied institutional and environmental racism at Philadelphia's Lincoln University in 2015.

NICK NURSE

Head Coach

Hired by the Philadelphia 76ers on June 1, 2023 as the 26th head coach in the franchise's rich history, Nick Nurse's basketball journey can be measured in miles and milestones: from the British Basketball League to NBA Champion; from the Rio Grande Valley of the G League to the Olympics; from the youngest college coach in the United States to the NBA's Coach of the Year. He is intrigued by innovation and improvisation in sports, books, and in his other great love, music. Both on and off the basketball court, he is inspired by legendary coaches like Phil Jackson and renowned musicians like jazz master Thelonious Monk. Nurse is a life-long learner who graduated in 2022 from Concordia University Chicago with a PhD in philosophy, with an emphasis in sports leadership. In his 40s, Nurse took up several musical instruments, and is currently working on improving his piano and guitar skills. A native of Carroll, Iowa, Nurse played basketball at and graduated from the University of Northern Iowa, and then began his coaching career at age 23, when he became the head coach of Grand View College in Des Moines. He moved to Europe in 1996 to follow his hoop dreams, and stayed there for 11 years, winning nine championships while in the British Basketball League. His time in the NBA's D League – now known as the G League – with the Iowa Energy and Rio Grande Valley Vipers taught him that the ability to improvise is something that a basketball coach can use, just like a jazz pianist. Despite ever-shifting lineups and challenging situations, Nurse was both a G League champion and G League Coach of the Year in 2011. Nurse joined the Raptors in 2013 as an assistant coach and took over as the franchise's head coach of in June 2018. That first season, one day short of his one-year anniversary at the helm, he became the ninth rookie head coach in NBA history to win a league championship in their first year. The following year, Nurse was named NBA Coach of the Year, an award presented to him while in the NBA's "Bubble" – coaching under the most unusual circumstances while the world grappled with a global pandemic. On the international stage, Nurse coached Great Brittain's men's senior basketball team when it hosted the 2012 London Olympics, and served as head coach of the Canadian Senior Men's basketball team from June 2019 to June 2023. Nurse lives in Media, PA with his wife, Roberta. He has three sons: Noah, Leo, and Rocky. He carries his guitar on the road, and is a lifelong fan of Prince, the Chicago Cubs, and the L.A. Rams. In 2020, he started the Nick Nurse Foundation, which aims to improve the lives of young people through literacy, sports, and music. The foundation provides mentoring, instruments, and opportunity so youth from underrepresented communities can flourish on the court, the stage, or in whatever path they choose for themselves. "Let's help the kids see a brighter future. Let's give them a more positive self-image. Let's give them opportunities they may not have had, whether it's books or basketballs or basketball shoes or instruments or lessons or getting them part of a band or taking them out onstage in front of somebody to lift their self-image - or any strands of all those things where they may be able to see a career or a future," Nurse says. "And we just want to do that to the best of our ability with the foundation."

HARRIS BLITZER SPORTS & ENTERTAINMENT LEADERSHIP

TAD BROWN

Chief Executive Officer, Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment

Entering his third season as CEO of the Philadelphia 76ers and Harris Blitzer Sports & Entertainment, Tad Brown has helped the 76ers organization further solidify itself as one of the top franchises in professional sports. The 76ers clinched their sixth straight playoff berth last season, winning 54 regular season games to secure home-court advantage in the first round of the NBA Playoffs. The 76ers extended their home sellout streak to more than 240 games, once again ranking atop the league in attendance.

Meanwhile, off the court, the team had a record-breaking year with the addition of multiple blue-chip partners, while leading various community initiatives throughout the Greater Philadelphia community. Last January, the Sixers Youth Foundation Gala returned for the first time since the COVID-19 pandemic and raised more than $1.5 million for the youth of Philadelphia, Camden and the Greater Delaware Valley. In addition to the Gala, the organization has continued to prioritize community engagement during Brown's tenure as CEO. Over the course of the 2022-23 season, the 76ers led or supported programs that positively impacted more than 25,000 members of the community across nearly 200 events, including dozens of events that leveraged the power of sports to inspire and uplift youth.

The 76ers also remain focused on driving equitable opportunities throughout the city as evidenced by initiatives such as the Buy Black Program. Last season, the 76ers selected Lokal Artisan Foods as the third annual beneficiary of the 76ers Buy Black Program, providing them access to expert marketing consultation, advertising value, and additional tools to elevate and amplify their local business. Additionally, Brown oversaw the relaunch of the 76ers Spirit of Small Business Program which celebrates, supports and uplifts small business owners in the Greater Philadelphia area. During the 2022-23 season, the 76ers highlighted the stories of more than 80 diverse small businesses during primetime game marketing slots, amplifying their businesses to 3.5 million followers.

Under Brown's leadership, the 76ers have consistently prioritized world-class resources for the team and its players, while delivering a best-in-class experience to the passionate fans. In addition to announcing plans to build a privately-funded new arena, 76 Place at Market East, in time for the 2031-32 NBA season, Brown spearheaded the 76ers' $10-plus million renovation of its locker room and team space at the Wells Fargo Center, vastly improving the areas in which the team's players and staff operate on gamedays.

Prior to joining HBSE, Brown spent nearly two decades with the Houston Rockets, Toyota Center and Clutch City Sports and Entertainment, 15 of which were spent as CEO. In his role in Houston, he was a member of the NBA's Board of Governors, served as the representative to the Executive Committee, and served on the league's Media Committee. Over his tenure, Brown helped position the Rockets as one of the NBA's premier global franchises, as well as a cornerstone of the Houston community. The business thrived under his leadership, setting Toyota Center records for sellouts, attendance, total events, and customer satisfaction. Additionally, Houston hosted NBA All-Star Weekend in both 2006 and 2013, as Brown played a key role in making Toyota Center the first NBA building to have two All-Star Games over a seven-year period. His extensive knowledge of media rights helped fuel the Rockets growth, including the creation of the Houston Regional Sports Network in 2012, now established as AT&T SportsNet Southwest. In 2017, Brown orchestrated the sale of the Rockets by Leslie Alexander to Tilman Fertitta for a then-NBA and global sports franchise record $2.2 billion.

Prior to joining the Rockets, Brown was a Founder and President of Streetball Partners International. For more than a decade, he worked in partnership with NBC Sports and the NBA to build Streetball into the world's largest global grassroots basketball property.

Brown is a graduate of Colgate University, where he was a four-year starter and three-year captain of the varsity basketball team. He and his wife, Janice, have four daughters and one granddaughter.

OUR MISSION

To use the power of our sport and the influence of our brand to coach and mentor the next generation of leaders and innovators.

COMMUNITY

OUR PROGRAMS AND INITIATIVES

SIXERS YOUTH FOUNDATION

The Sixers Youth Foundation is a 501(c)(3) nonprofit organization committed to using the power of our sport and the influence of our brand to inspire future generations in the communities where our fans live, work and play. We partner with nonprofit organizations to help build on their strengths, to support existing strategies and to inspire and nurture new approaches intended for all youth to thrive. The Sixers Youth Foundation also works with communities throughout the Greater Philadelphia area in refurbishing basketball courts, and revitalizing the area for the local youth.This is done through investments in organizations that serve young people across three core focus areas: Academic Enrichment, Access to Quality Play and Safe Play Spaces.

WILT CHAMBERLAIN MEMORIAL FUND

The Wilt Chamberlain Memorial Fund encourages and supports the college and career pursuits of high school students with financial need in the Greater Philadelphia Area. Since 2005, the Memorial Fund has awarded more than 100 scholarships in Wilt Chamberlain's honor to area high school seniors, who not only embody the Hall of Famer's values of hard work and ambition, but also demonstrate a commitment to helping and serving others. The Memorial Fund is committed to making a difference in the lives of youth and young adults, and helping them create their own legacy, just like its namesake throughout his life.

SOCIAL RESPONSIBILITY

Through a strategic Social Responsibility effort, the 76ers connect to fans and communities by investing resources in ways that are inspiring, engaging and informative. Events and activities are designed to support the academic achievements as well as the healthy mindsets and behaviors we want our young fans to develop and cultivate. The five pillars of our core community work include:

- Diversity & Inclusion
- Health & Wellness
- Education
- Social Justice
- Community Assist

OUR PROGRAMS AND INITIATIVES

AUTISM INCLUSION

The 76ers are dedicated to providing a sensory-inclusive environment for all fans during each and every home game. In conjunction with NBA partner Kulture City, complimentary sensory kits, that provide tools and resources for those who may be overwhelmed by the in-game experience, are available for checkout at both of The Center's guest services locations. The Wells Fargo Center also houses a sensory room for fans on the Suite level. 76ers and Center staff members are trained at the beginning of the season on how to best respond to fans' sensory needs. The team recognizes World Autism Acceptance Day in April through in-arena recognitions and celebrates inclusion for all. In addition, the 76ers host an annual "Bounce Out The Stigma" basketball clinic, led by youth coach "Mighty Mike" Simmel, for local youth with autism spectrum disorders and other sensory needs.

This platform is highlighted by a health and activity event at a Philadelphia-area school that is comprised of equal parts basketball and education on healthy food consumption. Following each event, all participating students will receive a stuffed bag of healthy groceries and food for them and their families to enjoy.

HER TIME TO PLAY

Her Time To Play is a national initiative created by the WNBA and NBA to inspire the next generation of girls, ages 7-17, to play basketball in a positive and healthy way. The 76ers support this league initiative throughout the season by hosting a series of girls-only clinics, led by local women coaches and leaders, throughout the Delaware Valley. During Women's History Month in March, the team hosts a Her Time To Play clinic and roundtable conversation honoring women's contributions and supporting dialogue around women's equality.

Previous monthly 76ers' winners include Tyrese Maxey and Tobias Harris.

YEAR IN REVIEW

KEY NOTES

- The Philadelphia 76ers ended the 2022-23 regular season campaign with the third-best record in the NBA at 54-28 (.659), the team's best record since 2000-01 (56-26). It's the team's sixth consecutive playoff appearance dating back to 2017-18.
- The 76ers have won at least 60-percent of their games in three straight seasons, the team's longest such streak since doing so in seven straight seasons from 1978-1986.
- Twenty-five of Philadelphia's 54 wins came on the road, marking the eighth time in franchise history the team won at least 25 contests away from home.
- Philadelphia's defense allowed the third-fewest points per game this season (110.9), while finishing the season as one of five teams to hold opponents to under 50% shooting from the field and below 35% from beyond the arc.
- The 76ers finished the season 40-3 when holding a lead after the third quarter, the second-best such record in the NBA. Philadelphia's three wins this season when trailing by 20-plus points also tied for the most by any NBA team in 2022-23.
- For the season, the team led the NBA in both three-point percentage (franchise-record 38.7%) and free-throw percentage (franchise-record 83.5%), while ranking sixth in overall field-goal percentage (48.7%). The team's 83.5% mark from the free-throw line is the second-highest mark in NBA history (83.9%, 2020-21 Los Angeles Clippers).
- This marked the ninth time since the NBA inducted the three-point line in 1979-80 – and the first time in franchise history – that a team has led the league in both three-point and free-throw percentages.
- The 76ers finished the season ranked third in the NBA in offensive rating (117.0) and eighth in defensive rating (112.7), one of three teams in the top-eight in both categories.
- Philadelphia put together two eight-game winning streaks this season (Dec. 9-25; March 4-18). It was the first season in which the team posted multiple eight-game winning streaks since 2002-03.
- The 76ers were one of three teams in the league with at least three players averaging 20-or-more points (Embiid, Harden, Maxey). Embiid, who earned his second straight scoring title, averaged 33.1 points per game.
- Embiid is the first player since the 1976-77 NBA-ABA merger to average 33 points and 10 rebounds in a season. He's the first player to win consecutive scoring titles since Harden (2017-20) and second 76er to do so, joining Allen Iverson (2000-02).
- James Harden averaged 21.0 points, a league-leading 10.7 assists and 6.1 rebounds, as he became the first 76er ever to capture the NBA's assist title. He's also the first Philadelphia player ever to average double-digit assists for a full season.
- Embiid and Harden are the first pair of teammates to win the scoring and assist titles in the same season since 1981-82 (San Antonio's George Gervin and Johnny Moore). Overall, they are just the fifth pair of teammates ever to do so (1973-74 – Bob McAdoo, Ernie DiGregorio, 1962-63 – Wilt Chamberlain, Guy Rodgers, 1951-52 – Paul Arizin, Andy Phillip).
- Tyrese Maxey became the sixth 76er to average at least 20 points at age 22-or-younger, and shot 48.1% from the floor, 43.4% from three and 84.5% from the foul line, becoming the second 76er ever to post such splits.
- Maxey's three-point percentage ranks fourth in team history and was fifth overall in the NBA in 2022-23.
- For the second time of his career, Tobias Harris ended a season with a field-goal percentage of at least 50%, both of which have come with Philadelphia. Harris is one of 13 players in team history with multiple seasons shooting 50%-or-better from the floor.
- In his first season with the 76ers, De'Anthony Melton posted career highs in three-pointers made (157), assists (197), blocks (41) and steals (126, second in the NBA). Melton is the first 76er ever to post such totals in a season.
- Fellow first-year 76er, P.J. Tucker, shot 39.3% from three-point range while holding his opponents to 2% under their season field-goal percentages while defending them.
- Georges Niang's 149 made threes off the bench were the most ever by a 76er and the second-most in the NBA in 2022-23. Niang also set a franchise mark for the most games with three-or-more made threes as a reserve (28).
- Paul Reed set career highs in points, rebounds, assists, steals and blocks while shooting 59.3% from the field this season.
- Shake Milton set a new career high with an average of 3.2 assists per game, including a career-best 16-assist outing on April 7 at Atlanta.
- Acquired prior to the Feb. 9 trade deadline via Charlotte, Jalen McDaniels posted a pair of 20-point games for Philadelphia, the sixth and seventh such performances of his career. He shot 40% from beyond the arc in his 24 games as a 76er.
- In his first career NBA start on April 7 at Atlanta, Jaden Springer posted 19 points (8-13 FG) in 34 minutes. Prior to rejoining the 76ers for the stretch run, Springer helped lead the Delaware Blue Coats to the NBA G League championship, capturing Finals MVP honors.
- Dewayne Dedmon, who signed the 76ers on Feb. 14, appeared in eight games for the team over the season's final two months, shooting 59.1% from the floor.
- Danuel House Jr. shot a career-best 47.2% from the field in his first year with the team, posting double-figure points on six occasions, including a season-high 22-point effort on April 7 at Atlanta.
- Montrezl Harrell totaled a season-high 20 points on Jan. 8 vs. Detroit. All told, he tallied 10 double-figure scoring games, including one 11-point, 10-rebound double-double on April 7 at Atlanta.
- Furkan Korkmaz posted a season-high 17 points (6-7 FG) at Orlando on Nov. 27. He made a season-best three three-pointers on two occasions.

76ERS UNIFORM HISTORY

2017-PRESENT: 2017 brought on an updated look for the Philadelphia 76ers, with the unveiling of the team's new Icon Edition (Blue), Association Edition (White), Statement Edition (Red) uniforms. The new Icon and Association uniforms introduced a hard-red drop-shadow behind the iconic "PHILA" lettering and player numbers. The new designs also include the words "Brotherly Love" embroidered in gold on the bottom of each jersey, drawing inspiration from the Greek translation for "Philadelphia." The Statement uniform displays "Sixers" in cursive across the uniform's chest plate. The cursive writing serves as a salute to the signing of the Declaration of Independence.

2015-2017: On June 18, 2015, the Sixers revealed new home (white), road (blue) and alternate (red) uniforms which were designed using elements from different eras in franchise history. "PHILA" is emblazoned across the chest of the home and road jerseys as a homage to the 1966-67 Championship team. The alternate red jersey has "SIXERS" sprawled across the front, to honor the 1982-83 Championship team. All three uniforms are decorated with a column of stars down each side in the fashion of the 1976-77 uniforms. Each jersey also has the phrase "PHILA TOUGH" sewn into the waist-level hem, visible only to the players prior to being tucked in 2009-2015: Prior to the 2009-10 season, the Sixers re-designed their uniform to feature the team's new primary "76ers basketball" logo with the red, white and blue color scheme. Trimmed in blue and red, the team will wear white uniforms with blue lettering and red numbers at home. On the road, the team will wear red uniforms, trimmed with blue and white, that feature white lettering and numbers. In the summer of 2010, the uniforms underwent some minor revisions, including blue piping added around the neck and shoulders among other aesthetic details. The Sixers also debuted an alternate blue uniform in the 2012-13 season opener.

2007-2009: Both the Sixers home and road jerseys underwent a bit of a facelift in the summer of 2007. Influenced by the secondary red road uniform, which was introduced the previous season, the home and road designs featured a refined red taping stretching from the jersey to the shorts. The material itself was also completely overhauled, as the new fabric was Adidas clima-cool flatback mesh on the front with open-holed metallic stretchair fabrication on the back and in key venting zones through the front of the shoulders.

2007-2009: During the 2006-07 season, the 76ers unveiled a new second road uniform with red as the predominant color accented by the team's other official colors of white, blue, black, silver and gold. Produced by Adidas, the jerseys featured a new "PHILA" wordmark across the front in a design similar to the team's primary logo, as well as blue and white striping around the V-neck. The red shorts are adorned with the Sixers secondary logo above a blue accent on the side of the left leg.

1999-2006: Philadelphia added a new second road uniform during the 1999-00 season. The blue jersey sports a stylish new cut that's full of tradition from the great Sixers teams of the 1960's and 1970's. Trimmed in red and black, the jersey featured the "SIXERS" wordmark on the front with white numbers trimmed in red.

1997-2007: Prior to the 1997-98 season, the Sixers unveiled a completely new look including the first major logo change since becoming the Philadelphia 76ers in August of 1963. In keeping with the traditional red and blue, the logo was "modernized" by adding silver, gold and black. For the first time in franchise history, the Sixers wore black uniforms on the road. Trimmed in red and gold, the jersey that features the word "SIXERS" on the front with white numbers trimmed in red on the back. At home, a white jersey features black numbers trimmed in red.

1994-1997: This uniform was actually a throwback to the classic Sixers look. Designed by Lucy Loeb, the front featured

"SIXERS" in a more ornate block lettering. This garb was white with red and blue trim at home and red with white and blue trim on the road.

1991–94: The Sixers uniform was redesigned by Champion Products and was a departure from the classic Sixers uniform. The design featured multicolored stars against a royal blue field that curved up from shorts to the jersey. The background of the away uniform remained red.

1978–91: The NBA begins to regulate uniform changes more closely. A rule is installed by the league requiring teams to use an exclusive outfitter and alert the NBA one year in advance of a design change. This uniform becomes the Sixers' hallmark, with the numeral surrounded by stars on the shorts. The road color returned to red. The uniforms were manufactured first by Wilson, then by Sand Knit. The 76ers played more games in this uniform (1,066) than any other in the history of the franchise.

1977–1978: The lettering on the jersey was readjusted, with home uniforms lettered in blue and outlined in white and red, while away uniforms were royal blue with white lettering in red trim.

1976-1977: Another one-shot uniform surfaced, this time with a theme. In honor of the Bicentennial, the team turned to the cursive lettering and trim numerals of the 1970-71 season. The new uniforms were designed by Pat Williams, Al Domenico, Billy Cunningham and Sonder Levitt Advertising.

1971-76: SonderLevitt Advertising designed a uniform that had a much longer lifespan than its predecessor. With the new art deco-like lettering, the uniforms retained the star-inset blue side stripe, a graphic element that remained a feature through the 70's. Away uniforms were royal blue with white side stripes and stars.

1970-71: With its red-in-blue and cursive lettering, the Sixers next official home uniform (the old red garb was retained for away games), did not please Sixers suppliers. Midseason trades meant impossible turnaround times for these custom-sewn, flowing script uniforms. In the middle of the season a switch is made and "Seventy Sixers", in script, replaces "PHILA" on the front of the uniform.

1966-70: The Sixers went to the straightforward look during their first championship run. Simple block letters with the traditional "PHILA" on the front replaced the star-spangled banner look. Road uniforms became red with blue lettering and white trim.

1965-66: A two-tone uniform with a high waistband and long, baggy trunks was introduced. The players considered it flashy and uncomfortable to play in and it was abandoned after one season.

1963-65: The Sixers opened their run in Philadelphia with a Betsy Ross-inspired uniform (below). Adorned with a circle of stars on both the shorts and the back of the jersey surrounding the player's number, the stars quickly became a hallmark of the Sixers uniforms. The road uniform was dark blue with red lettering and numbers. Midway through the '64-65 season, the style of the letters and numbers was changed.

 Early draft records are incomplete, so until 1956 players are listed alphabetically.*

Beginning in 1957, the draft is recorded round-by-round. To enable teams to take advantage of the regional popularity of college stars, they were given the option of forfeiting their first-round pick and instead selecting, before the start of the draft, a player from the franchise's immediate georgraphical area. These "territorial picks," as they were know, are not factored in to the overall selection count of the draft. The territorial option was in effect through 1965.

The 76ers played just 73 total games in 2019-20 due to the coronavirus pandemic. The team's final eight regular-season games and all playoff games were played on the NBA Campus in Orlando, Florida without fans in attendance.*

^Though the 76ers played 72 regular season games in 2020-21, only 31 of those dates featured a live attendance. During the postseason, attendance numbers dramatically increased as the Covid-19 vaccine was rolled out.

The 76ers played just 73 total games in 2019-20 due to the coronavirus pandemic. The team's final eight regular-season games and all playoff games were played on the NBA Campus in Orlando, Florida without fans in attendance.*

Though the 76ers played 72 regular season games in 2020-21, only 31 (17 home, 14 road) of those dates featured a live attendance. During the postseason, attendance numbers dramatically increased as the Covid-19 vaccine was rolled out.*

David Zinkoff

Microphone Retired: March 25, 1986
Seasons with Franchise: 22 (1963-1985)

The only non-player to be recognized with a banner in the rafters of The Center, Dave Zinkoff was the Sixers legendary public address announcer from their inception in 1963 until his passing on Christmas Day in 1985. Zinkoff also served as the public address announcer for the Philadelphia Warriors from 1946 through 1962 and at numerous college basketball games at Convention Hall. He also served in the same capacity for boxing and wrestling at Convention Hall and for the first-ever Sugar Bowl. In addition to having his microphone retired, Zinkoff Boulevard was dedicated on June 19, 1986.

PLEASE NOTE THE FOLLOWING:

* Denotes that a player played for more than one team during that particular season and the team-by-team breakdown was not available. Each respective stat line is reflective of the entire season's statistics, which also affects the player's total stat lines.

(n) Denotes years played in the NBL with Syracuse, before the Nationals joined the NBA in 1949-50. NBL statistics are factored in to individual NBA totals, but do not affect team statistics/records.
